SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD

BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.—Acts 4:20.

Please note the publication of the two proposed state constitutional amendments to be voted on November 2nd. These amendments have nothing to do with schools, please remember. The school matter will come up for vote on December 21.

"Magnificent Obsession" will be at Grenada Theatre for several days beginning Saturday night. I have tried to understand the book; maybe, I can get something out of the picture. At least I am going to try.

That dog business enunciated by Secretary Wilson will just about wind up the gdrepublicans chances, if they had any, on November 2.

I understand Bill Fedric and Donald Ross are off moose hunting with the McQuays in Canada. I dont know whether they took John Andrews along or not.

While I was off fishing or playing dominoes, instead of looking after my business, Alney (Mc[illegible]) McLean and his boy, W. C. McLean, both of the swamp, dropped in to see me Tuesday. They are my cousins, and I regret missing them.

I have not yet heard of anyone planning to run against John Gray as Supt. of Education, ut may show up before the bell rings.

Nobody has told me that McHenry Allison will run for sheriff again, but I never heard of anyone running as close as he did 4 years ago, not running again.

Since 1955 is the year for Grenada County to furnish the state senator from Grenada-Yalobusha counties, I imagine our two law-makers, William Winter and Billy Semmes, will get their heads togehter and one will run for the legislature, the other for the senate.

Even at this late date, after several years, I would not yet say that the City Manager "saves" money, but I will say this: the citizens get MORE for the money spent.

J. D. (Lying) Davies and Andrew went fishing Sunday and reestablished their cordial relations.

Answering a telegram from Cousin Margaret Wheat of Little Rock. It has been HOT here. Mabel and I did not take a trip this year. Too 'po to go. Love.

I recently read a quote from West Virginia Senator Neely that Eisenhower was the "most useless" President he ever knew. He should know. I dont.

Since we charge all of our local aspirants for political office for announcing, it is not incument on us to announce, except free in a desultory way, aspirants for Governor, let us wind these announcements up in a short way. J. P. Coleman, Paul Johnson, Mary Cain, Ross Barnett and Fielding Wright are to run. We might be less crowded some other week and, in that week, may have other things to say about each of them.

When William Winter resigned as manager of the Cof C, the directors appointed Virginia Hubbard to carry on.

Squire Pickle was in sady and paid his dues and, I am sure, Ollie Knight jeweler, fisherman and preacher subscriber in Amory, will be delighted to know that he and Pickle, as boys, used to know each other.

Game Warden McLean said that Mr. Creekmore, head of the conservation department, was going to delegate a big bunch of his men - not to try to put everybody in jail, or any thing like that - but actually to count the fishermen on Grenada Lake and really get these illuminating figures. Such figures would show just HOW important Grenada Lake is in the picture. Also illuminative would be some real figures showing how much business has increased among the minnow sellers and the many others dependent here on fishing. As I have often said Grenada Lake could be, if it already is not, Grenada's most important "industry."

I am mighty glad today that I did not follow the "high and the mighty" in Missisippi and run off after Eisenhower and the gdrepublicans in 1952 and cause my Democratic ancestors to writhe in their graves. It looks to me that the gdrepublicans have got this country in a real mess, and that the slim Republican majority wil be kicked out in November.

Regardless of what a public man says, I like to hear him say things that he thinks and things that he wrote. I dont have and never have such a feeling about what Eisenhower publicly speaks. I always think that Eisenhower SAYS what somebody else THOUGHT and what somebody else WROTE. Lots of times I dont think the folks who do the thinking and writing are very smart at that, maknig a real puppet out of our president. He impresses me as a regular Charlie McCarthy, saying what the OTHER fellow thinks. Frankly I believe Stevenson SAYS what Stevenson THINKS. It looks like Stevenson has something to think with.

Our old friend, Rev. E. R. Henderson now of Verona, in good conscience, tried to pay his subscription last week, sent us an unsigned check. I sent it back, telling him that Keene Huffington said he could not read the signature, so on Sunday I got another check which Keene Huffington can read.

Tuesday, Adams County is scheduled to have a county-wide election to see if folks there want that county (in many respects much like Grenada County) REdistricted. The wimmen of Adams County, thru the League of Women Voters are behind the scheme. I advocated, for yeras and years that something like that be done in Grenada County, but I have quit fussing about the matter. I have taken the attitude that, if the rest of you can stand it, so can I. I was and am right about the matter, but I can not do anything alone and am not going to try any more. I think the real truth of the matter is this: that folks in town just dont give a damn what's going on in the county.

Both Grenada County and Adams County are one-town counties. In each case, the one town has most of the votes, pays most of the taxes and dont get much back from the county. The po' supervisors elected from the town usually gets for his beat whatever the four country-minded supervisors eventually decide to "give" him.

Ben Sanders is up against that condition, Prich Horton was up against similar conditions, and so was Gene Davis and Kemp Mattingly. While I dont know, I guess August Odom and Mr. Odom were in the jaws of the country supervisors and took what little they "gave" him.

If others want to look into county affairs, with a view of getting a better break for Beat One and Grenada, they will find that, through the long weary years, I was right about the matter. Dont, however, expect me to resume the fight alone. After years of battling, I'm tired, since, after all it's no skin off my knuckles and since all along, Grenada County has been and is one of our best customers.

The only fruit of my fight was the decision of the supervisors to change the method of distributing in May and to be effective October 1st. That "fruit" did not last long ecause, just before the change became effective on October 1st, the supervisors changed BACK. If mine was a victory, it was what they call a hollow victory. In other words, it did not mean anything.

Before it gets cold in my memory, I had better say that the spry fisherman, J. Dennis and I went fishing one afternoon last week and J. Dennis beat me 3 to 0, leaving Friedman, not Dennis, the sorriest fisherman.

The GCW always going to Mrs. O. W. Smith at Kenefee, Oklahoma, is now going to Mrs. E. C. Thomas, and that indicates there has been marriage going on in Oklahoma.

The following people of Beat 4 are today posting their lands against hunting and al forms of trespass: Mrs. R. W. Mullin, F. R. Lickfold, Jr., D. S. Taylor, J. Waring Taylor, R. M. Smith and City Ice and Coal Co., Jimmy Todd, Mgr.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. (Peck) Harris will leave Saturday for a vacation trip to New Orleans and the Miss. Coast.

Charlie Neal Holland, 46, Died Here October 9

Funeral services were held on Monday, October 11 at 2 p. m. for Mr. Charlie Neal Holland, 46, native and lifetime citizen of Grenada County who died at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Parham in Grenada on Saturday, Oct. 9, 1954 at 8:40 p. m. His death followed several years of suffering a malignancy and during his struggle to overcome the effects of it, he underwent surgery and treatment by the best available specialist, both in Grenada and Memphis.

Services were held at the Holcomb Methodsit Church with the pastor Rev. Paul Fulton in charge, assisted by a former pastor, Rev. O. R. Lawrence, now of Moorehead, Miss. and Rev. Bill Wallace of Greenwood. Burial was in Woodlawn Memorial Park in Grenada.

The deceased was the son of the late Mr. J. A. Holland and his widow, who remarried and is now Mrs. C. E. Carroll of Holcomb.

The J. A. Holland family resided in the Oxberry community and their children attended Holcomb Consolidated High School.

On Dec. 15, 1934 Mr. Holland and Miss Margaret Parham were married. To this union two children were born Charles Neal Jr. and Miss Gale Holland.

Mr. Holland was a farmer, a member of the Grenada Farm Bureau and was a stewart in the Holcomb Methodist Church. He was a good neighbor, and as such, had good neighbors, who when he became too ill to attend to the spring planting of his crop, came to his aid and helped plant the many acres he farmed. Mr. Holland and family rented the farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Anderson at Dubard. Six of his close friends, Messrs Dot Hayden, Edgar Farr Cresswell, Richard Carver, Carmel Norris, Kirk McRee and William Holcomb acted as pallbearers.

Relatives other than his widow and two children who survive are his mother, Mrs. C. E. Carroll of Holcomb and sister, Mrs. H. M. Burges of Tutwiler, Mrs. Shelly Ashmore of Memphis and Mrs. Ora Little of Oxberry; and six brothers, Buddy (H. H.) Holland of Grenada; John, Eddie and Mike Holland of Memphis; Kenneth Holland who is in the Navy at Imperial, Calif.; O. M. Holland of Oxberry and Jeff Holland of Batesville.

To the bereaved we add our sympathy to that of the many other friends of Mr. Holland and his loved ones.

His very first novel, it was written when the authod had passed the half-century mark. The popularity of the book grew chiefly by word-of-mouth when it was first issued in 1929. Later it was printed in more than 50 editions, attaining a circulation exceeding the 1,000,000 mark. A separate pocket book edition sold more than 800,000 copies.

—LIBRARY NEWS—

The activities in Grenada County Library have really gotten off with a bang this fall. The fourth grade of the City Elementary School has just completed its annual visit to the library. An effort is made to acquaint these children with the more formal arrangement of books and general library use which becomes more complicated with their age level. There are five sections of this grade under the able teachers, Misses Wheeler, Payne, Halbert and Mesdames Blythe and Merritt. They were instructed in the use of card catalog, given talks on new books, and told stories. This is only one example of the nice cooperation between the Library and the schools in the integration of education for the children in a broad sense.

Holcomb elementary school invited the librarian for a chapel program last Thursday. She spoke to the children on the care of books, the advantages of being able to read and the joys gained from books and stories. Books are taken each month to Holcomb and Gore Springs Schools to supplement reading material supplied by the schools.

A visit will be made to the Nebo community this Friday when the Home Demonstration Club has an all-day basket making frolic. Books are kept there through the cooperation of this organization. The extension department urges each member to work for a reading certificate and the library furnishes the books. It is hoped that all the clubs will be represented when the awarding of these certificates is made next year.

Grenada County Library will be represented in the District Council meeting in Greenwood next Thursday afternoon. You can see by these activities that the Librarian does not have much time to "sit and read."

The library is bright today with beautiful fall flowers given us by Mrs. Glen Thmoason, Snider St. They will certainly be enjoyed by all and make a colorful arrangement on the desk. Such thoughtfulness is greatly appreciated.

How to enjoy more of the good things of life

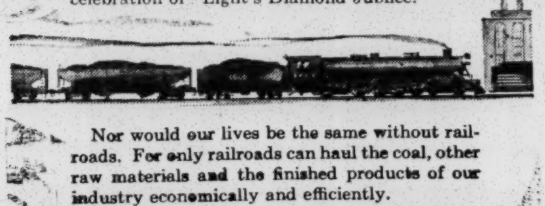
We Americans enjoy a richer, freer life than any other people. We are better off than our fathers, just as they were better off than theirs.

What has enabled us to achieve so much?

Let's go back 75 years. Men worked 14 to 16 hours a day, six days a week. Leisure was almost unknown.

No one worked harder than a young man named Edison. For months he slept three or four hours out of 24. Out of his labor came the electric light bulb and electricity as the source of light for everyone and power for industrial expansion.

Many men like Edison have helped us achieve fuller lives. But equally important are the natural resources which made their dreams realities . . . materials like the coal that generated the power for our industrial expansion . . . coal, the black diamond that is the jewel in this month's celebration of "Light's Diamond Jubilee."



Nor would our lives be the same without railroads. For only railroads can haul the coal, other raw materials and the finished products of our industry economically and efficiently.

Sum it all up. It's the American story of teamwork by inventive talent, labor, management and investors—the teamwork that has made Mid-America—the land the Illinois Central serves.

Happiest Homecoming of the Year!

The longed-for day has come at last. He has taken delivery of the car of his dreams . . . he has enjoyed his first wonderful ride behind the wheel . . . and now—he's coming home!

And what a proud and happy man he is as he turns into that familiar driveway and presses against the horn rim to signal his arrival!

For this—as any Cadillac owner can testify—is a very happy homecoming!

It would be difficult to imagine a more thrilling or a more delightful family gathering than that which heralds the arrival of a new Cadillac. It is a truly memorable and exciting and joy-filled occasion.

And then, there are those admiring friends and neighbors who usually drop by to welcome a new Cadillac to its new home—and to get a personally conducted "tour" of the car from its owner.

But, perhaps best of all, there's the deep personal thrill that comes to a man when he first contemplates his own Cadillac in his own driveway.

It gives him a genuine sense of satisfaction to realize that he possesses one of the world's most sought-after products—and a feeling of gratitude to know he has been able to provide his family with Cadillac's great comfort and luxury and safety.

Yes, it's a unique and wonderful experience to bring a new Cadillac home.

And we honestly feel that the motorist who is privileged to enjoy this experience in 1954 is in for a very special treat. For the car is now more wonderful to drive . . . and more beautiful to behold . . . and more inspiring to own than ever before.

Why not stop in soon—and let us show you what we mean? One hour behind the wheel, and we think you'll be looking forward, with great anticipation, to your own "Cadillac homecoming"!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Scripture: Proverbs 3—4.
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 4:10-20.

Way of Wisdom

Lesson for October 17, 1954

WHAT is the main thing to be desired in life? Different answers have been given and still are given. Some people think they would rather be rich than anything else; others count health the number one must; others value freedom above all things. There is a section of the Bible in which all the writers unite in giving an answer still different from any of these. "Wisdom is the principal thing," say they all, "therefore get wisdom."

Dr. Foreman

The book of Proverbs is part of what Bible scholars call the Wisdom Literature. It is unique among the books of the Bible. It does not tell a story, it has no plot, no argument. It consists of a large number of sayings or proverbs, put together for the most part with very little order. You can try the experiment some time of reading aloud any chapter in Proverbs from chapter 10 through chapter 29, backward (i.e. the last verse first, then the next-to-last, and so on to the first verse), and see whether your listeners know you are reading backward.

Knowledge and Wisdom

But while the book of Proverbs is not all arranged in orderly sequence, there is harmony all through it. The great theme is Wisdom. The whole race of man is divided here into three kinds of persons: the wise, the fools, and the young—who can choose wisdom now before it is too late. (No fool like an old fool!) Wisdom is by no means the same thing as knowledge. Almost anybody can acquire knowledge; all it takes is perseverance and a good memory. Knowledge can be gained quickly, as the rapid-instruction classes in the army have shown. A person can learn a language, well enough to get along with it, in a year's concentrated time. But when he speaks it, will what he says be wise? A man may know a dozen languages and yet talk no sense in any of them. A high school student can make "A" in agriculture in his examinations on the book, and still not be a good future farmer. Wisdom is founded on knowledge; the complete ignoramus can never be wise. But wisdom is more than knowledge; it is knowing what to do with knowledge, how to put it to work.

Wisdom Is From God

In the book of Proverbs wisdom is not only different from knowledge, it is different from what is sometimes called worldly wisdom. Men are sometimes called wise by unthinking persons when they are merely wise in the ways of the world—smart, shrewd, able to look out for themselves, always alighting on their feet, like cats. The wisdom commended in Proverbs is not worldly, it is divine. It differs from ordinary smartness in two ways. First, it is from God. It can be learned anywhere ("Go to the ant . . . consider her ways, and be wise") but God is the final source of wisdom. In other words, wisdom in these pages means much the same as what other writers call conforming to the will of God. It means looking at things with the eye and the mind of God. Further, as the writers of Proverbs see it, true wisdom includes God; that is to say, the wise man will remember God while the fool either never gives God a thought, or says in his heart, there is no God. He is the most important fact in the universe; to leave him out of all our calculations is to be a top-flight fool.

Wisdom Is for This World

There have been good pious people who didn't know quite what to do with this book of Proverbs. For it is out of line with any other-worldly notion of religion. People who think that religion and common sense are two different things; people who think religion is concerned with things unseen while common sense deals with everyday facts; people who think that religion is chiefly concerned with death and what comes after, —all these people are taken aback by the earthly simplicities of the Proverbs. The wisdom which is here admired and praised is not anything "out of this world," it is strictly for this world. A former governor of Virginia testified that during his term of office he had received more help in the practical problems of government from the book of Proverbs than from any of the books on political science which lined his library shelves.

—Operation Americanism—

(By W. T. Rose, Jr.)

A positive offensive against Communism was launched by the Miss. American Legion Monday, October 11 at 11 a. m. Operation Americanism call for radio, TV, newspapers and billboard advertising showing the great advantages of such American practices as freedom of religion, speech and press; free enterprise systems; industrial, agricultural and scientific advances made under the American Way of Life which is the only free way of life.

The United States has only 7 percent of the world's population, yet we own 86 percent of hte refrigerat- we own 86 percent of the refrigerat- 81 percent of the bathtubs, 79 percent of the radios, 78½ percent of the life insurance, and our income is the highest in the world. These things could not have been accomplished unles sour form of government gave the incentive to the individual, protected our right of free speech, and permitted us to worship God in our own way. These accomplishments wuold be impossible under a Communist form of goernment.

We should be very proud of our accomplishments, and our way of life. Are you willing to give a small amount of your time and your influence to preserve it?

15 years of progress

Mississippi's first oil discovery occurred just 15 years ago. Today the oil and gas industry is second only to the long-established agriculture and timber industries in economic importance to Mississippians . . . .

. . . . SPENDING, in addition to drilling costs, over $60 million annually (more than a billion dollars to date) for:
WAGES—$20 million to more than 5000 Mississippians
SUPPLIES—$9 million in purchases from state firms
TAXES—$12 million to state and local governments
LEASE RENTALS and ROYALTIES—$25 million to Mississippi landowners

. . . . LEASING acreage for oil and gas development—more than one-third of all Mississippi land is under lease, earning annual rentals for the owners. Some 200,000 acres produce royalties for their owners.

. . . . DRILLING in search for more Mississippi oil and gas and developing known reserves. Approximately $25 million was spent on drilling in 1953.

. . . . PRODUCING—after just 15 years, Mississippi ranks tenth among the oil states in annual production; seventh among the gas producers.

. . . . PROCESSING both oil and gas at two oil refineries and two natural gas recycling plants.

. . . . TRANSPORTING crude oil, gas and products through 4600 miles of pipe lines which cross 74 of the 82 Mississippi counties and which are assessed for ad valorem tax purposes at a value higher than all state railroad mileage or all electric utilities in the state.

Individual oilmen and the stockholders of oil and gas companies have a very large investment in Mississippi. They are justly proud of their accomplishments, and of the significant part they have played in the state's industrial expansion. They are thankful for the good will and cooperation with which Mississippians have greeted their efforts.

SEEN, HEARD & TOLD

BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.—Acts 4:20.

We are carrying a series of Blue Cross ads. As I do not know, I will not say that the Blue Cross plan is the BEST plan of hospital insurance, but I will say that it is representative of a modern way of meeting the unexpected physical crises that are likely to come in ANY life.

Everytime I go fishing here lately, someody beats me. The only time I beat anybody was Monday when I caught 1. J. Dennis, 0. Guess I will try J. Fred Austin next.

You never know who is kin to whom until you eventually find out. Mrs. Oscar Wade in Longview, Wash. has been getting the GCW a good while. Tuesday morning Eddie Gant came in with $3 and he said it was from his daughter, Mrs. Oscar Wade.

Political patter: it looks like Bro. Mullen in the sheriff's office is smelling around as if he might like to try for Byron Hunter's fine job. The more, the merrier.

I was just on the point the other day of trying to kid Lillian Lilly about having a Cadillac, but, after a close look, found she had a new Ford. More than once I have got new Fords mixed up with Cadillacs.

I want the world to know that L. Friedman's' fishing showed that, instead of being Grenada's sorriest fisherman, he is real good. Sunday he caught the limit (and maybe more) while I caught only 10. He also threw back these stupid little ones, now called Harry Gordens. Tommie Darras and Harry, as well as Dennis, would have shared my pride, had they been along. The Knox girls got all the fish.

The farm picture appearing a few weeks ago was the home of Mrs. C. H. Winter in the outskirts of Holcomb She sent in to get the pciture pretty late, in fact after we ran the picture more than once. We run these pcitures on Fridays. We like to re-run them the next week and get a story, but we can not follow that schedule UNLESS owners come in right away, claim their photographs and give us the information that we can use in teling the story. In the future, therefore, we URGE floks to come in early, identify their picture and give us some facts for a story.

Ike Worsham, boosting his minnows said they were so wild that you had to lay them on the sand, put your foot on them before you could hook them.

Another picture that we ran was that of Charlie Trussell, Jr. but Charlie waited several weeks to claim his photograph and, by so doing, messed up our schedule. Charlie, like all Trussels, lives out in Beat Two and, after so long a time, mailed in the information necessary, but it had to go by the board.

It seems that I must have printed something nice about Mrs. T. A. Coleman. She missed that copy of the GCW and wanted another copy, but, God knows, I can not remember the date of the copy. I told her it is a damned sight easier to write something nice again than it is to find another copy. I would advise her friends back in West Texas that Mrs. Coleman is getting along all right out here where it rains sometimes and has "taken on" well here in po' misipi and is a very fine young woman. This paragraph came along when she paid her subscription.

What with gasoline cans, outboard motors, life jackets, tackle bags, casting rods, etc., our front office looks much like a tackle store. Included is the over-70-years-old shotgun that papa owned. This deadly tool is used by Andrew in killing those po innocent squirrels. Someitmes, I often wonder how we ever get out a paper and how folks ever find us to pay what they owe us.

We have a long-winded release from the C of C about the committees for the Christmas Parade, but that can wait a while, as we have too much about what happened yesterday.

Oil Progress

Mississippi, just 15 years after her first oil discovery in 1939, ranks tenth among the producing states in annual crude oil output and seventh in natural gas production. Most of the states producing vastly larger quantities of oil and gas (Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, for instance) saw their oil industries born over 50 years ago. Mississippi's significant oil progress, taking place under adverse circumstances, is a tribute to the enterprise and skill of the men and companies who comprise her oil and gas industry. Without aid or subsidy, they have achieved worthwhile success and have made a very substantial contribution to the state's economic development.

GULF is proud to be a part of the vital industry whose progress is being emphasized this week. GULF is proud to have pioneered, since 1917, the search for oil in Mississippi.

GULF holds credit for 11 Mississippi field discoveries. GULF produces one-fifth of the state's total crude oil output. GULF, leading the trend to deeper drilling, has established Mississippi's deepest commercial oil production. GULF'S total expenditures on Mississippi operations exceed $120,000,000.

OIL PROGRESS . . . the success of GULF and other companies and individuals in their efforts to find and produce more Mississippi oil . . . is indeed a "good sign for Mississippi."

If it has ever occurred to you to wonder what your family and friends will be doing three months after you have left this world, then find the truth of it by slipping back into the town where you previously lived and where your loved ones are, and quietly observe them in their daily lives without their knowing you are there. You may be a little disappointed and a little jealous perhaps to find they all are carrying on quite well without you. They of course would be expected to do this, having replaced you and your influences with other nice people. This week we visited in Hot Springs, Arkansas where we lived a number of years and have a number of very close friends. It was amusing to stand outside the drug store and observe George Braughton waiting on the trade in the same affable manner he has done for years. We used to be numbered among his customers, but now he has others in our stead. George Gabriel was patiently filling the orders and setting out the plates of food at his little Deluxe restaurant on Central Avenue in exactly the same way we have seen him do it day after day in other times. Forest Higgins, our next door neighbor for several years, wipes the windshields and checks the oil at his service station in the same old routine when he had a wonderful family to come home to but now Vera, his wife is gone and the kids are grown and are away at school and neighbor Foster hides his loneliness unto himself and waits on the trade the same as he did in 1936. The bus stops at the same corner and about the same people get off and on day after day, and life goes on. The two little trees in the front yard of our old place are now fully grown and the window frames need painting and the driveway to the garage is wearing out, but the porch is the same and the memories of our family sitting there on those very same steps swell up in your throat.

Norma Ann Edwards, blonde hair in pigtails in 1936, married to J. R. Smith who in 1938 was all state halfback for the Trojans, now has 4 children and the eldest is star halfback on the 1954 team, and J. R. is so fat he could never get into the famous "66" uniform, runs his father's print shop, but took time out to ask about our daughter Gerry who played on the team of cheerleaders with Norma Anna in their senior year while J. R. toted the pigskin to state championship in 1938. Yes, as time marches on the kids of our kids are running the show and like it or not the world does and will go on very much the same without us.

The Post Office Department is featuring National Letter-Writing Week this week, and it would be a very good time to sit down and write that letter you have promised yourself you'd write to a loved one or a good friend. We hope daughter Gerry reads the announcement out San Anselmo, California way and will take the hint. She reads this column every week and considers it a medium of hearing from us, but overlooks the fact we too want to hear from them.

Television sponsers evidently know that variety is the spice of life and variety will keep viewers hanging on to program after program, because on today's schedule on channel seven we found Lee Liberace's wonderful music right in-between Gene Autry and Cisco Kid. What a contrast that was. Ada believes Liberace is a sissyfied fraud, but I always feel I should stand up when he comes on the screen as a kind of salute to a mns who has reached the top in his profession. I do not always understand his music, and have no idea what he is like as a man, but I tell you where I've been these last 40 years - in a fast and competitive business - men learn to admire and will cheer the champion no matter what his line may be.

Best Wishes, Fed — Box 55 Pine Bluff, Ark.

Unless we change our mind, our charges for announcing candidates will start with Gorener—Ranger at $60, and go on upward.

STUDENTS STILL HAVE TIME TO WIN $1,000 SCHOLARSHIP IN LION OIL CONTEST

1954-55 Scholarship Program Offers Awards For Teachers, Too

EL DORADO, ARK., OCT. 11—October 15 at midnight marks the deadline for eligible high school boys and girls in the South to submit their entries in the current Lion Oil Scholarship Contest for students, according to C. R. Olson, director of the Lion Oil Scholarship Fund.

First prize in any one of three different zones is a $1,000 Scholarship to the college of the winner's choice. Scholarships cover tuition, and a large part, or all, of incidental expenses for laboratory fees, books, room and board.

In addition, fifteen $25 Merit Awards are to be awarded in each of the three zones.

The essay subject for the first student contest is, "Why I Want A College Education." Students simply write and submit an original essay of 500 words or less.

Complete details and rules are available from the principals of eligible high schools or by writing to the Scholarship Fund.

Teachers Share In Prizes

Contest rules call for teacher-sponsorship of each student who enters an essay in the contest, the director pointed out. And teacher-sponsors of $1,000 Scholarship Award winners will receive $200 cash. Sponsors of merit award winners will receive $25.

A feature of the essay contest again this year is a $100 award to each Scholarship winner's school for the purchase of library books.

Eligibility

The contests are open to all high school students in public, private and parochial schools in designated areas served by Lion Oil. Under the "three zone" system, contestants compete only with others in the same zone, and thus have a better chance of winning. The Rules Book lists the specific counties in each zone.

Contest For Teachers

Teachers are competing for a $1,200 Lion Oil Scholarship in each of three zones. The Scholarship Fund provides a second award of a $400 cash Travel Grant and eleven other prizes of $75 each in each of the "zones" of competition.

When a teacher wins a $1,200 Scholarship, the school at which he or she teaches will receive $100 cash for use in purchasing books for the school library.

To enter, teachers simply write an essay of 1,000 words or less on the subject, "How I Can Prepare My Students For Successful Living." The teacher-essay contest is now under way in each zone and closes February 4, 1955.

Fund Now In 5th Year

This is the fifth successive year in which Lion Oil Company is sponsoring a series of essay contests for Southern students and teachers. The Lion Oil Scholarship Fund was established in 1950 and has already awarded 170 prizes worth more than $97,000.

The director explained that the Fund was established because of Lion Oil's enduring faith in the South, with the objective of training the South's sons and daughters for future leadership, and of rewarding Southern teachers with assistance that will help insure the continued progress of Southern education.
